Moments in Time

As the Class of 1994 graduates from high school, we realize that over the four years that we have been here, we have collected many memories. What we remember most, however, are not individual days, certain weeks, or even whole school years. Instead, our hearts recall specific moments in time meaningful to us. We treasure special events such as homecomings, our proms, or just those days when we could say to ourselves,

"Things just can't get any better than this." We also remember our A's and our F's in the classrooms, our wins and our losses on the playing fields, and our times with friends that made us laugh or made us cry. Each time we open this book, we will relive these cherished moments in time. We will find ourselves reflecting on those special memories we hold precious and will carry with us for the rest of our lives.

▼ Studying's fun... really. Lisa DiPaoli pretends to study in the library.

▲ Decisions, decisions. Dani DelleChiaie helps Jess Mateik make a soda selection.

▲ While the cat is away... James Desmarais and Nicole Camire kick back in Mr. Duynstee's office.

▲ What was gravity again? Tom Mullen, Keith Giannini, and Jeff Crivellaro attempt physics explanations.

In Appreciation...

To the Class of 1994, Mrs. Barney has been one of the best teachers we have ever known. Each student hopes to someday experience a teacher who, while challenging the mind, also makes learning fun. Once in a while we meet a teacher who not only instructs us, but can also put down the chalk and be a friend. Mrs. Barney has given us her time, energy and love for these four years. All who have known her are that much better for having shared in all that she has given. Her offbeat sense of humor and her creative way of teaching have made us look forward to her classes. Our lives have been forever changed by her wisdom. Mrs. Barney, you are one of the teachers that we will miss most when we finally graduate. We thank you for all you have meant to us these past four years.

▼ "There are no t's in the word femur!"
Rex corrects Mrs. Barney's work.

▲ We're one cat short for this dissection project. Mrs. Barney plans her Biology lesson.

▲ Oh, what a night... Mrs. Worthy and Mrs. Barney show off their fine formal wear.

◀ Is this food from the machines in the cafeteria? Mr. and Mrs. Hampsch and Mr. and Mrs. Barney pay more attention to their dinners than to the students on this formal occasion.

▼ Greek is always this relaxed! Chris Norton, Mrs. Hampsch, and Dan Gerow get comfortable in Greek.

▲ Oooh! It's so bright! Mrs. Hampsch is caught in the lights.

▲ No! Don't take me! Pooka and Mrs. Hampsch eye Mrs. Barney in horror.

To many of us she will always be Miss Roy. Starting with humanities and continuing on through Latin and Greek, Mrs. Hampsch's enthusiasm for her subjects is equalled only by the interest which she stirs in many of her students for subjects which they rarely, if ever, considered studying. How many of us ever thought that we would be writing notes in the Greek alphabet or reading Cicero and Horace and enjoying them? Although the appreciation for culture that Mrs. Hampsch has inspired in us is something we will always value, the most important thing she has done for us is just to listen. At two o'clock, her room is always full of students, some for help in conjugating verbs, others asking questions about the exceptions to the second declension, but the majority are there simply to talk to her. She provides what we need so badly in the hectic high school environment: a solace, an inspiration and, most importantly, a friend. Thank you, Mrs. Hampsch, for everything you have done for us. The Class of 1994 will never forget you.

We've Got TONIGHT

On April 18th, 1993, the Class of 1994 celebrated its Junior Prom in style at the Oak Hill Country Club. Being the first class to have the prom outside of the Activity Center gave the occasion the elegance to make it a truly magnificent evening. Appareled in their finest attire, the students found the evening a tremendous success. Through the music, food and conversation, everyone had the chance to let loose and be themselves. The country club was alive with excitement, and the partygoers danced the whole evening doing everything from the lighthearted Chicken Dance to the synchronized Electric Slide. For many, the most exciting moment of the evening was the naming of the court: Julie Beauvais, Andrew DePatie, Elizabeth Burzynski, William Coakley and King and Queen, Gregory Beyrouthey and Jen McCarthy. The final dance of the evening, "We've Got Tonight" was the perfect end to a truly special night.

-Becky Contois

▼ Secrets, Secrets. Aaron Ayers whispers his comments to Beth Vincent.

▲ It's time to party! Julie Beauvais, Jen Fluet, Chris Massicotte, Missy Cote, Becky Contois, Mike Todd, and Jess Rivard, "do their thing" on the dance floor.

▼ Time to rest. Missy Cote and Mike Todd decide to sit this one out.

◀ Open up and say Ah! Chris Norton enjoys his dessert.

To the St. Bernard's Class of 1994: I know that many of you don't know who I am. It is also true that I don't know some of you. Even though we had four years together,

I can say that everybody in the class has failed to befriend all of our classmates. All of us have people we disagree with and dislike, but what we must consider is that we still came together when it counted - at rallies, to decorate the hallway in junior year, and at other class functions. I think that it would be wise to remember this kind of togetherness when we think of our time at St.B's-Jone' Capone.

My name is Chay. When I entered St. Bernard's three years ago, I had a few close friends. Over the past few years, some of these friendships have remained and grown; some have withered and died, but most important are the friendships I have made while I have attended St. Bernard's. These four years will be some of my most treasured memories, and I'm glad I spent them at St. Bernard's. More sappy message. Maybe the Care Bears will fly down now. Okay, this message is all done. Thanks Mom and Dad (You thought I wouldn't mention you). Cerado.

A Time for Bonding

In the midst of college applications, and the hustle and bustle of the holiday season, some of the seniors left the stresses of school and life to attend a mystery retreat. All that they were told was that the day's final destination would be Oakhurst Retreat Center.

We arrived at Bement Conference Center during the morning in a room without heat. While trying to stay warm, we were told that our adventure would begin shortly out in the frigid weather, and that during outside activities we would get to "bond," get to know each other better.

We began to dread these bonding activities as we ventured deeper and deeper into the woods. However, soon the cold air became a mere memory as we became warmed by mind strategy, fun, and laughter. Could it be that the group that had been complaining all this time was finally beginning to care about each other's feelings?

Later that evening we had reached Oakhurst, a beautiful forty-seven room mansion. The gleam of mischief quickly appeared in everyone's eyes as we then scurried about the grand house to claim our bedrooms.

Our adventure became final as we sat in front of the warm fire playing games, drinking tea, and calmly reflecting on what we had accomplished throughout the day; we had come together as a group. For those who attended the retreat, it was one of the most memorable experiences of our high school years.

MOMENTS TO SAVOR

CLASS OF 1995

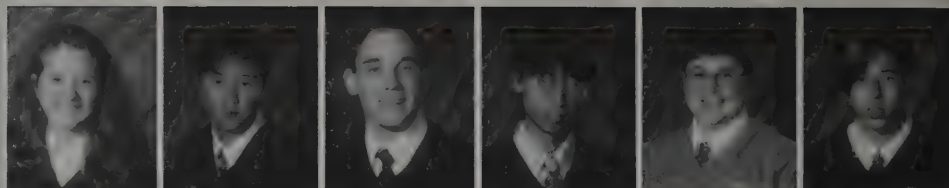

It all began not too long ago in September of 1991. We, the class of 1995, joined together for the first time at Prince of Peace Church for our freshman retreat. Soon afterward, we connected with the leaders of the school, the senior class, for Freshman-Senior night. As the year progressed, we cheered at sports' pep rallies, attended games and took an active role in Spirit Week, all ways of instilling class spirit.

We had been welcomed by seniors, juniors, and sophomores with kindness and open arms. So as we became sophomores, we welcomed the new freshman class and new classmates. This time when Spirit Week came along, we decorated our hall with total excitement, while trying to make relationships stronger and more peaceful.

Now as juniors it's about that time when we paint the wall in Mr. Duynstee's office. The Junior Prom will be rocking around springtime, thanks to Sr. Clara and Mr. Rabidou, our class advisors. We expect our junior and senior years to be truly fun with the Ring Ceremony and both proms. The best is yet to come.

TIME TO BE NOTICED

CLASS OF 1996

When a person looks back on his or her sophomore year in high school, they may have mixed emotions. However, when the Class of 1996 looks back, we will say that it was the best year ever.

Sophomore year started as any other year; we had no idea what was ahead of us. In September, we picked our class officers: president, Kristie Hotaling; vice president, Kathy Fuller; secretary, Kris Stone; treasurer, Vicki Melin; and historian, Erin O'Connor.

Around school this year, we showed our school spirit by painting the 400's hallway and by holding a successful dance. The surprise of the year was during the homecoming rally when our class came together and was overcome with spirit.

The Class of 1996 is very unique. We have the largest class in the school with the most people participating in extracurricular activities. We walk the halls with the pride of being students of St. Bernard's.

We are the promising future of St. Bernard's, and when we graduate, we will leave a mark that will never be forgotten. We will always be proud to say that we are members of the class of 1996.

MEET THE CLASS OF 1997

CLASS OF 1997

The Class of 1997 gathered together for the first time on August 31, 1993. Mixed feelings of excitement and nervousness were shared by all, yet everyone looked forward to the day. We gradually got to know each other, our teachers, and our class schedules.

A few weeks later we were subjected to Freshman/Senior Week. The freshmen were matched up with seniors and forced to do many crazy, embarrassing things: Hat Day, Sign Day, and the unforgettable Freshman-Senior sing-a-long in the cafeteria at lunchtime. The week was brought to an end with Freshman/Senior Night, a night filled with fun and games as well as funny costumes for all to wear. The evening's crowning moment was "Throw Pie at the Principal." Mr. Duynstee (as well as the seniors who cleaned up) will probably never forget that event!

Class elections were next on the agenda for our class. We had known each other for several weeks, and had the obligation to chose the best candidates to fill the officers' positions. We chose Mike Chi as president, Kim Toney as vice-president, Erica Kane as secretary, Kristen French as treasurer, and Megan Moreau as historian.

The freshman class is unique and interesting. We're all excited to learn what the future will hold for us.

Blue & Gold

1993 marked the fiftieth year of the Blue & Gold covering national issues and school events at St. Bernard's. At the end of last year, the future of the school newspaper was uncertain, at best. However, a new year and an innovative staff brought a new and unified spirit of enthusiasm, resulting in journalistic success unmatched in recent editions. The biggest difference in this year's paper is the change in its format making it more appealing to all students at the school. With the neverending help of our advisor, Mrs. Worthy, we hope that the Blue & Gold can continue to evolve into a quality newspaper for the nineties.

Ski Club

Thursday afternoons are filled with fun for the members of this club. The Ski Club includes students from all classes. This time is set aside for members to get out and enjoy themselves with friends. It is a time for all to get away from all pressures and enjoy the fresh winter air. This year, Nature herself is cooperating with impressive snowfall amounts and bone-chilling temperatures. Mt. Wachusett has been able to open trails for every ability level. Whether just a novice or an expert skier, all are welcome in the Ski Club.

The Art Club is now becoming a larger and more recognized group. These gifted students display their many talents in a variety of projects throughout the year. Art Club meetings are a chance for people to express themselves and to have fun. Trying to raise money for a trip to a museum, club members had a successful Halloween bake sale. The Art Club is surely beginning to make themselves known at St. Bernard's.

U. S. First

The newest member of St. Bernards is A.R.E.S. or Adaptable Robotic Elevation System. It is the creation of a group of about 30 students who have been working with several local engineers for a few weeks this January and February.

A.R.E.S. will be in a national competition against 42 other schools on Feb. 24-26 in Nashua, NH. The event is sponsored by U.S. First, a nonprofit organization to promote fun and competition in science.

The winning team will be sent to Washington, D.C., to meet the president.

The object of the competition is for this remote controlled robot to put as many soccer balls as possible into a two-level goal within a two minute time period.

One point is scored for every ball in the floor-level goal and three points for the upper-goal which is about five feet off the floor. At the same time, two other robots share the playing area trying to do the same.

U. S. First meetings were held at night in a basement workshop. There the students brainstormed designs for the robot, manufactured parts, and worked out various types of problem-solving. This program enables students to experience all the hard work it takes to engineer a complete project, even one as simple as this one. It also provides the opportunity to simulate work for a real company where everyone works together to achieve a common goal.

It's Showtime!

On April 2 and 3, 1993, anxious audiences gathered in St. Bernard's Performing Arts Center to see the spring musical, Oklahoma! For the audience, the show was two hours of musical fun. For the cast, it was the reward for months of long rehearsals, laryngitis, and the scary prospect of ballet. Director Dave Ludt, along with Lorraine Goodman and Kathy Ludt, managed to take a mess of teenagers and organize them into characters, singers, and dancers. Freshmen found Oklahoma! a fun way to make friends, while seniors used it as a last opportunity to seal up their old friendships and to join in a popular activity.

Rehearsals were filled with laughter and the things memories are made of, such as singing in four-part harmony, lines that do not come out the way that they are supposed to, missing cues, and the always interesting prospect of costuming. It is not people who make a cast, but personalities. This cast had so much personality that tedious rehearsal hours flew by. Their determination produced a great show. Audiences who saw Oklahoma! those April evenings may have enjoyed the show, but it was the "farmers and the cowmen" who enjoyed it the most. Bravo!

Time to Show Spirit

On September 18, 1993, the Homecoming excitement began. As the whole school convened in the auditorium, all of the fall sports' teams and their coaches were recognized for their school spirit. During the rally, the Homecoming Court was announced. The king and queen were Joel Doolittle and Kim Leger. Those named to the court included freshmen Mary Cravedi and Justin Yamin, sophomores Kathleen Fuller and Christopher Refrigeri, juniors Jessica Mateik and Nathan Crooker, and seniors Amy Bastarache and Mark Sandstrom.

Perfect Timing

This year's autumn production of Stoker's Dracula surpassed the high expectations of all those involved with the show. Playing to an appreciative audience in the Performing Arts Center, the cast came together to create one of the most well-received shows in recent memory. Under the tutelage of David Ludt, the players slowly worked their way into their characters from the notorious Dracula to the terrified

Jonathan Harker. Also during the two months of long rehearsals and hard work, sets were built, costumes were chosen, and friendships grew among those involved in the production. With the sheer talent of the underclassmen combined with the excitement generated by the fall production of Dracula, there is much to look forward to in the future of drama at St. Bernard's.

These are the Times

On November 23, 1993 at 6 a.m., the students of St. Bernard's boarded the bus to NYC and took off. Everyone was too tired to be excited. After stopping for an 8 a.m. breakfast at McDonald's, our next destination was New York. When we hit the sidewalks, we immediately saw the glow of the city, all decked out in holiday style. We first visited Macy's and the Empire State Building. Next, we rode to the South Street Seaport where there were so many places to eat and shop that we hardly had enough time to see everything. Our final stop was the famous Mamma Leone's Restaurant. The delicious and enjoyable dinner capped off our unforgettable trip to the Big Apple.

Precious Moments

On December 8, 1993, the junior class celebrated the annual Ring Ceremony. The evening began with a warm welcome from class president, Matt Straight. With our families we celebrated Mass, and in a special ceremony during the liturgy, we received our class rings. This precious moment seemed to bring our class, the class of 1995, together by representing the tight 'rings' of friendship that we have within our class. Everyone who attended the ceremony was invited downstairs to the cafeteria for a beautiful reception. For those who were a part of the event, the evening was a milestone well worth celebrating, and for the juniors, it will forever be a highlight of our high school memories.

Moments to Cherish

On October 4, seven seniors were installed as Eucharistic Ministers. This sacred occasion was a very special event for both the seniors and their families. These seniors exhibited commitment to St. Bernard's by this desire to serve its community. By accepting the nomination to be Eucharistic Ministers, these students showed their willingness to express their beliefs, an important step forward in the Christian faith. Those seniors who accepted this position were Beth Canning, Becky Contois, Melissa Cote, Darcie Gagné, Heather Davis, Deirdre O'Shea, Chris Norton, and Jen Fluet.

It's Christmas Time!

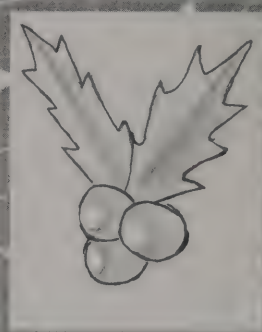

On December 18, 1993, the students gathered together at the Activity Center to celebrate Christmas, Bernardian Style. The dance was a great success, and with over two hundred people there, fun was all that was had.

The court selected was freshmen Mary Crevedi and Justin Yamin, sophomores Tara Cooper and Bill Pelletier, juniors Frank Toney and Tina Napoli, seniors Kristen Steele and Jeff Bedard, and the king and queen, Kevin Lizotte and Sue O'Callaghan.

With the decoration committee headed by Matt L'Ecuyer and Becky Contois, the gym was hidden by festive lights and lush Christmas trees. The evening was a stunning part of the Bernardian year.

What is the question that is asked most during a normal Bernardian day? It is the famous question: "What lunch do you have?" The best time in the day is, of course, lunch time. It is a time for us to socialize and catch up on the things that we have missed during the day. Another good part of lunch at St. B's is our twenty-minute rendezvous with everybody's favorite lunch lady, Judy. Yes, Judy is as much a staple at lunch as are "Little Charlies" and Chicken Salad. When you think about it, if it were not for Judy, lunch would not be the same.

Time to Compete

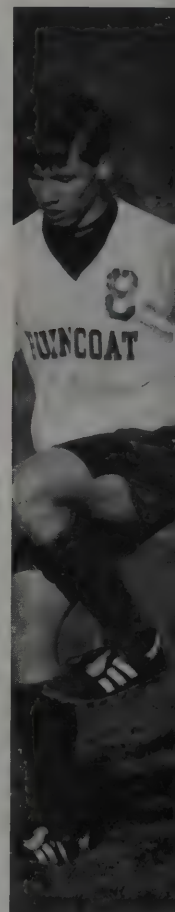

▼ What a play! Eric Johnson uses his head to skillfully intercept the incoming ball.

This year's soccer team has set the pace for teams in the future. Under the coaching of Sexto Batallas, the team showed impressive improvements in overall cohesiveness and skills. The team's great potential was evident in outstanding games against both Leominster and North Middlesex, two serious opponents in the CMC league.

“...the team's great potential was evident...”

Even though the Bernardians won only one game, fans can be assured of successes to come because of the growing talent of the underclassmen players. Team captains Eric Johnson, Nate Savage and Mike Scales, worked well together to advance the skills of these talented underclassmen: Hans Cho, Aaron Hohos, Mike Schnare and Derek Tisdale. The team's spirit of working towards a higher level of play accurately reflects this year's soccer achievements.

Time to Use Your Head

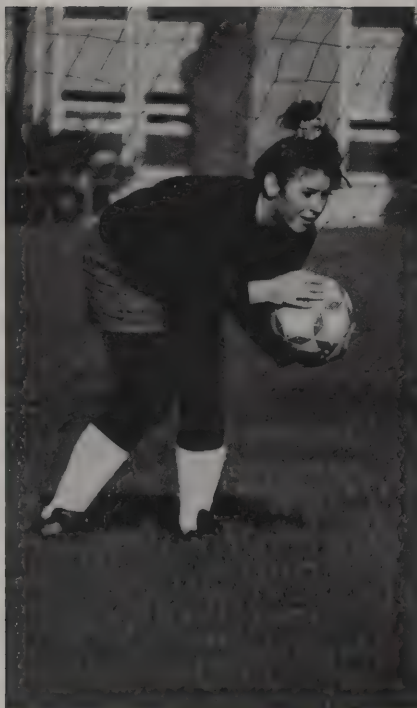

What do spirit, determination, and enthusiasm have in common? They are standout qualities of the women's varsity and junior varsity soccer teams. Neither team had a lot of wins under them, but they continued to show these qualities. The varsity was led by Coach Colm McGarry and co-captains, Darcie Gagne and Gloria Vargas. The junior varsity was led by Mr. Mark Pierce and co-captains, Vicki Melin and Jen Pekkinen. There was one outstanding player on the junior varsity team, Monica McIntyre who scored 13 of the 18 goals that the team had for the season. If this year's teams were ranked according to dedication, then both teams would be first in the league. The talent and heart of this year's teams will help bring next year's to be the best.

“...ranked according to dedication then both teams would be first in the league...”

▲ Here it comes Christina Pompei prepares to clear the ball out of the net.

Time to Set the Pace

Both cross-country teams had a fantastic fall season. The men's team finished with a 10-3 record, and the women posted a record of 9-5. The successes of these outstanding runners carried through to the CMC meet as the women captured a second place trophy, and the men garnered a first.

This year's teams have left their mark in St. Bernard's sports history. The women dominated the league and were led by sophomore, Jaime Gleason, who placed first in every meet. The men, equally as powerful, were paced by freshman, Justin Yamin, who helped the team capture its first CMC meet since 1974. Many of the harriers will be returning next year, so expect more record-breaking performances. Cross-country

Time to Hit the Ice

Let the puck drop! 1994 has been the year for the St. Bernard's Hockey Team. Let by senior tri-captains Kevin Lizotte, Mike Allan, and Dave Sutton, St.B. could take it all the way to the Centrum.

With an overall record of 14-4, including the 7-2 pounding of Gardner High, and a tie for the Russell Conference (9-1), the team has had an outstanding season. Throughout the season, strong goaltending has been provided by junior goaltender Dave Middleton.

“... on their way to the playoffs...”

Night in and night out the team has turned in strong performances thanks largely in part to head coach Jim Conry and assistant coach Mike Nelson.

Some special achievements have been celebrated in the midst of it all: Mike Allan rounding 100 points, and Kevin Lizotte hitting the big 200!

By February vacation, St. B. had an impressive streak of straight wins and were on their way to the playoffs. Good Luck St. B.!

-Jess Rivard, Kevin Lizotte, Matt Santangelo

▲ I'm coming... Mark LeBlanc comes skating down the ice to get into the action.

▲ "Where's the puck?" Jeremy Mularella searches for an opening as he rounds the goal.

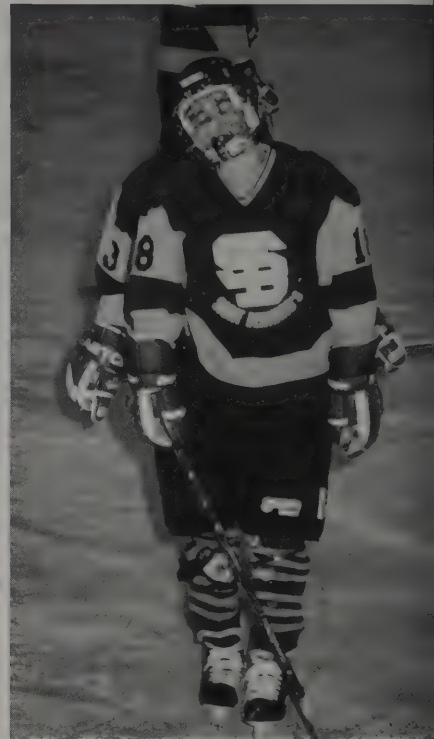

▼ On my way . . . Justin May jumps into the game.

▲ There it is . . . Dave Sutton takes the puck home.

Ice Time

▲ "This is too much!" Brad Gilbert is relieved after an invigorating game.

▲ "I can take him!" Kevin Lizotte maneuvers to block his opponent.

▲ I'm free - send it this way . . . Jeremy Mularella is in the right place at the right time.

▲ So close! Tim Moreau knew it was a great shot, but the opposition goalie blocked it anyway.

◀ "I can't believe it" Mr. Conry looks in disbelief at the ref's last call.

▲ Psyched! Sean Ouelette heads out to position, concentrating on what is ahead.

Fast-Paced Moments

This season has been quite a "character builder" for all those involved with the men's varsity basketball program. With no returning starters from the previous season, this year's team was a very young one with little varsity experience. Despite its record, the team has made great strides since the beginning of the season. With only two seniors at the start, most of the burden was placed on the juniors. A rotation of sophomores and freshmen at the varsity level also helped with the lack of upperclassmen. Next year's team should be a great improvement with many more players returning with varsity experience.

... the team has made great strides ...

▲ "Yo, man! Where's the ball?"
Scott Gabriel searches for the pass.

▲ Airborne! Damon Keaveny takes flight sinking a two pointer.

◀ "Is it good?" Keith Giannini eyes the ball waiting for the rebound.

▼ Slam! Another easy two points for Mike Leamy.

▲ Break! B.J. Rumley seeks a receiver in the open.

Time to Aim High

The 1993-94 Women's Varsity Basketball team was considered to be the one that would bring a State Championship back to the school this year. This looked very possible for since after six games they were 5-1; however what happened to the rest of the season?

Things only went down hill from there. The middle of the season was growing time for this team and they tried to correct what was going wrong. No matter what this team went though they always stuck together. Led by seniors Jen Fluet and Beth Burzynski, the season picked up and they made the districts with a record of 12-8. This is a young team with only two seniors, five juniors, and five sophomores. Coach Farnsworth has been pleased with their performance, as they pulled together and achieved their goal.

“... bring a State Championship back to the school this year...”

▲ Amazing! Kristin Glanton dribbles by her opponent with great skill.

Time to Give It Our All

This year's JV Women's basketball team showed through their offensive strength and defensive effort to be one of the best teams in the area. The team of seven sophomores and five freshmen really proved themselves. Coming off a great season last year, they returned faced with several new challenges. Some looked at the new schedule and screamed, while others got the "we can do it" attitude. By the end of the season,

... others got the "we can do it" attitude ...

all realized they could play well against any team, even Fitchburg and Gardner High.

The Men's JV team labored valiantly and showed that they instinctively knew how to work together as a team. With the experience gained through this year's season, the Saints look forward to a promising winter in 1995.

▼ "Hey, watch out!" Brian McGuirk tears through his opponent.

▼ "Ready!" Steve Thibodeau finds an open man.

▼ Up, up, up, and away! Tim Shea sinks another basket for the Bernardians.

Time to Cheer Them On

Spirit is an overwhelming aspect of St. Bernard's, and sporting events just would not be the same without the enthusiasm of the cheerleaders. The varsity basketball and hockey cheerleaders are always there to support their teams and fire-up the crowd's spirit. Whether defeated or victorious, the cheerleaders express their gratitude to the teams for persistence and solid efforts.

Dedication is the hallmark of the St. Bernard's basketball and hockey cheerleading squads. The two squads work for weeks in the pre-season preparing for the opening games which in the cheerleaders' minds were great successes this year because they gave it their all. Our cheerleaders demonstrate spirit, dedication and pride in their teams and their school.

“Dedication is the hallmark of the St. Bernard's Cheerleading Squads”

The 1994 Bernardian was an experience that will never be forgotten by those who worked on the staff. When we began in July, very few people realized how much work would be involved and how long it would take to complete this book. Overall, the staff had an excellent year and even occasionally enjoyed themselves between searching for picture captions and trying to remember who had the photo cropper last. Under the fearless leadership of our battle hardened, perennial, yearbook advisor Mrs. Boudreau and the newest talents of Mrs. Telicki, the staff, for the most part, finished their work on time and made their deadlines.

Working with this staff is something I will never forget. It took everyone's individual, as well as group efforts, to make this book something which makes us proud. Many thanks to Mrs. B. and Mrs. T. for all their invaluable advice; the staff for showing up on time (for the most part) and completing their tasks; and to Gina for all her suggestions, advice, and corrections, especially for her help with the temperamental computer.

Hold on to the memorable times! This is certainly an experience that none of us will ever forget!

DAN,

YOU ARE THE SUNSHINE OF MY LIFE

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE PAST

IT'S GONE BY

SET GOALS FOR YOURSELF

BUT DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE FUTURE

LIVE FOR TODAY

AND MAKE IT WORTH REMEMBERING

WE ALL LOVE YOU AND ARE HERE FOR YOU

YOU WILL HAVE GREAT SUCCESS IN WHATEVER YOU CHOOSE TO DO
IN LIFE

I WISH YOU HAPPINESS AND LOVE

"Commencement"
does not just mean graduation, it means a new beginning....

Learn to listen.
Opportunity sometimes knocks very softly.

Strive for excellence not perfection.
